Here are Answers to some of the most Frequently Asked Questions about Trading:

Q: How long will it take?

A: It usually takes about 15-20 minutes to go through your items - sometimes a little more, sometimes a little less, depending on how busy we are. We ask that you please stay in the store while we inspect your items, so have a look around, enjoy, and we'll come get you as soon as we're done.

Q: Why is it necessary to stay in the store?

A: We don't have a lot of room, so we have to stay organized. We process your items as quickly as possible in the order received, returning any items we can't accept immediately after inspection. This saves you time, saves us room and reduces our liability. Please note that if you leave the store we won't be able to inspect your items.

Q: How do you decide what to take and not take?

A: We accept as many items as we possibly can, based on need and reader demand. So if we already have items in stock or if items are out-of-date, in poor a condition relative to their age, or simply not in demand, we return them to you.

Q: What is the trade offer based on?

A: We offer as much as we can for every lot of items brought in. The offer is based on the total number of items accepted as well as condition, type, quality, age and desirability. The offer is quoted in store credit (trade). When available, you may opt for half the quoted trade amount in cash, which is paid on a limited basis and subject to a daily payout maximum (we can't pay out more than we make in a day).

Q: Why is trade credit double the cash offer?

A: Most of our customers prefer trade credit. It's twice the value of cash and can be used to purchase books, CD's and DVD's at half the original price or less, so it's actually QUADRUPLE VALUE! Then you can bring those same items back to the store to trade again, saving even more! There's no better deal for the serious reader, movie or music lover. We still offer cash on a limited basis as a courtesy for people who are moving, downsizing, etc. again, subject to a daily payout maximum (one of the last book stores in the region to do so).

Q: How does trade credit work?

A: We keep your credit on file behind the counter at the store. It never expires and can be used by you or anyone in your family for books, music and movies, which you can then trade back in for more credit. It's a great deal and - it's pretty awesome!

Q: What can I do with the books you don't take?

A: We recommend donating them to your local library or a worthy charity organization such as Nana's Attic in Lawrence Park Shopping Center, Goodwill Industries, Salvation Army, etc.

Thank You! If you have any additional questions, please ask one of our friendly Bookstore Associates who are there to help you.
